- Eric Wenzelberger of Center Street questioned whether there was a way to notify the owners of the vehicles parked on Center Street to move their cars for the street cleaning. He suggested Code Red be used. He was advised that the notice was posted on the Borough Marque. Most of the cars were owned by the apartment residents and they are not registered on the Stockertown Code Red list, therefore, sending out an "all call" would not notify them.

He also gave the Borough notice that vehicles were still making switch back turns in front of his property and gravel is being thrown all over the place.
